Greek Island paradise turns into hell for two vacationing salesmen

'I WAS KIDNAPPED, BURIED ALIVE BY A WOMEN!'

Vacationing salesman Brian Killihan was kidnapped, gang raped and buried alive — by a tribe of modern-day Amazons. Incredibly, the plucky 29-year-old San Diego man survived his nightmare ordeal on the remote Greek island, but his companion James Swainey was slain. Here, exclusively for our readers, is Killihan's own chilling story:

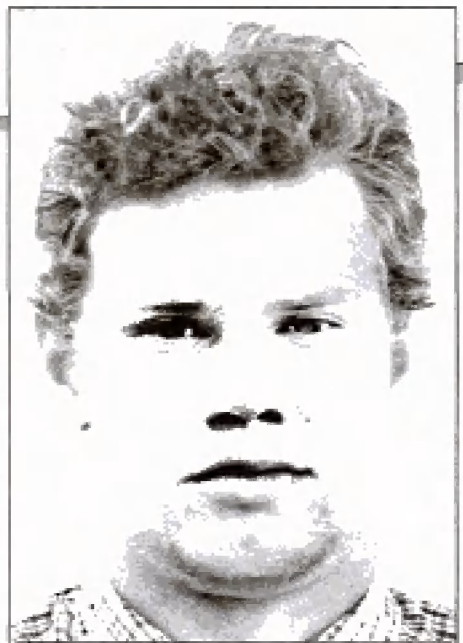
By BRIAN KILLIHAN

"Please no, for the love of God don't — don't bury me alive!"

The pathetic cry sputtered from my lips as I wept in terror.

I was lying on my back in a six-foot-deep pit, stark naked, reeking from the awful stench of the savage, tattooed women who had just brutally violated me.

Now they stood around the open grave, some using the tips of their long, sharp wooden pikes to keep me from rising. Others busily shoveled rock and sand down onto my bare legs and chest.



SALESMAN Brian Killihan's ordeal at the hands of Amazons is told here in his own words.

My pleas for pity fell on deaf ears — the Amazons just laughed heartily, then let out a blood-curdling, victorious war whoop.

I took one last breath, then the earth covered my face . . .

Just hours before, I'd been having the time of my life fishing in the Greek Isles on the sailboat of my best friend Jim Swainey.

A 12-year-old Athenian lad named Costas had convinced us to take him along that morning to show us the best spots. The $10 we'd given him had already paid off — we'd each landed a huge marlin.

But when Jim started steering towards a rocky island near Lesbos, the boy shook his head and said, "Do not go near that place."

According to legend, he told us, devotees of the ancient Greek poet Sappho — a gay woman — had founded an all-female cult on the island. Over the years, from time to time, athletic girls who hated men had left other islands to join the group, dubbed "Amazons," after the mythical race.

"Men foolish enough to go there are killed," the boy warned.

Jimbo just laughed. "Don't worry, kid. I feel lucky today."

But Jim was wrong about his luck. Just five minutes later, the boat half. The dinghy was swept away and the Greek boy disappeared beneath the waves.

Luckily, Jim and I were able to swim to shore.

As we lay gasping and sopping wet on the rocky beach, we were stunned to see a group of about 15 tall young women approaching.

and garishly tattooed arms. They also carried long wooden spears. As we stood to greet them, the women began poking our ribs with their weapons and barking in guttural voices.

They herded us to a flat area near the cliffs — then the harpies began ripping off our clothes with their claw-like hands. We tried to fight but were no match for the muscular she-devils. Before we knew what hit us, we were staked out, spread-eagle.

I shivered, knowing we were facing unspeakable humiliation.

One after another, the crazed creatures made violent love to us, their long, greasy black hair dangling like sea weed. Reeking of sweat, each attacker howled

WOMAN RETURNS FROM HEAVEN — WITH LETTER FROM GOD!

NEWS EXCLUSIVE

MYSTIFIED Agnes McIntyre delivered the letter from God.

CHURCH OFFICIALS are keeping the contents of the letter secret. They don't believe the world is ready to hear God's message.

PERTH, Australia — A heart patient who died on the operating table suddenly snapped back to life — and showed stunned surgeons a letter that experts say is from God Himself!

Vatican sources are calling the seven-page text "absolutely authentic." They say it contains a vital message to the world.

By ANN VICTORIA
Weekly World News

Although the Pope has not officially confirmed the letter's existence, insiders say it's being held at the Vatican, where a team of scientists continues to run a battery of tests on it.

"The message is handwritten in golden ink on paper woven through with a material very similar to silk," said the highly placed religious official.

"But our physicists say there's no material exactly like it anywhere on Earth."

The letter mysteriously appeared in the left hand of Agnes McIntyre nearly half an hour after she was pronounced dead.

"I watched it happen and I still don't believe it," says Dr. Phillip Wain, Mrs. McIntyre's cardiologist.

"Her heart stopped for 28 minutes. All vital signs were gone. She was dead in every medically acceptable sense of the word.

"We did all we could to revive her. Frankly, we'd given up.

"Suddenly her eyes just popped open and she told us she'd returned from the dead with a message from God. I didn't see her alive but thought this 'God' business was just hysterical raving — until we saw those papers in her hand."

The letter's contents are being kept secret because church leaders aren't sure whether the world is ready to hear them.

But the Vatican source believes God gave the letter to all mankind so he has released the following information:

- A nuclear holocaust could destroy the Earth and everything on it as early as 1998 if world leaders don't remain ever-vigilant. The end of the Cold War has caused many to let their guard down, forgetting that numerous countries other than the United States have nuclear capabilities.
- God still loves mankind and each of us individually but is angry over the increasing violence, greed and dishonesty he sees here. He warns that He is prepared to strike down the Godless in a way that will make even true believers' blood run cold.
- Satan is stepping up his battle to control the hearts and souls of men — beginning with world leaders. At least one Western leader has already fallen into Lucifer's clutches.
- Despite God's dire warnings, He reminds us that a Paradise beyond our wildest imagination awaits their Godless leaders are eager to use them.

Don't ask me that! The question couples hate most

The question people most HATE to hear from their mate is: "Do you still love me?"

A surprising 28 percent of 1,043 individuals surveyed said that was the query that bugged them most, while 24 percent were most irked by "Are you in a bad mood?" and 20 percent by "Are you cheating on me?"

Among women, the most bothersome question was "Did are my socks?" More than a quarter of the men in the survey — commissioned by the German magazine Neue Revue

Cops break up college gals' topless food fight!

NANTES, France — Cops got the shock of their lives when they answered a 2 a.m. alarm bell at a bakery — and found six nearly nude college gals inside having a full-scale food fight!

"Most of the girls were wearing just skimpy panties and no tops but you couldn't tell that at first because they were all covered with cake icing and whipped cream," said startled policeman Jean Demange. "They were plastering each other with every kind of gooey food they could get their hands on."

The gals admitted to cops the crazy stunt was part of a sorority initiation.

"We had to charge the girls with breaking and entering, and the bakery owner wants them to pay for the hundreds of dollars worth of food they ruined," Officer Demange said. "They were having fun but things really got out of hand."

California panel reveals:

10 tips to boost your self-esteem!

GLOBAL NEWS SERVICE

You can boost your self-esteem — by following 10 tips from a blue-ribbon panel of California-based experts that developed ways to help people feel better about themselves.

These tips were provided by Dr. Kenneth Ogden and Dr. Paul Kent Froman, who worked on the California Task Force to Promote Self-Esteem.

1. ACCEPT YOURSELF: Every day when you get up say to yourself, "I am a worthwhile and lovable person no matter how many mistakes I make."

2. SET REALISTIC GOALS: Try to better yourself, but set goals that are within your reach. For example, if you want to stop smoking and go on a diet, don't try both at the same time.

3. FORGIVE YOURSELF AND OTHERS: Remind yourself: "Today is the first day of the rest of my life." To forgive yourself and others, let go of past feelings of guilt and resentment. Get on with your life.

4. EXPRESS YOUR FEELINGS: Start by being honest with yourself. Next, find a way to express your feelings. Truthfully express your feelings this way and you'll slowly build confidence.

5. TRUST YOURSELF: Make an agreement with yourself to be more responsible. Do something simple like getting up at a specific time in the morning. When you do it a few times you'll begin to trust yourself in more important situations.

6. TAKE APPROPRIATE RISKS: Go back to school. Seek a better job. If you don't take chances, you'll be in the same old rut.

7. TAP YOUR CREATIVITY: Everyone is creative but we stifle our creativity because we're afraid of failure. Force yourself to keep on trying until you get it right. Most of all, have fun.

8. FIND YOUR SPIRITUALITY: We can all increase our self-esteem by realizing we're accepted and loved by God.

9. ELIMINATE NEGATIVE THOUGHTS: You damage your self-esteem by allowing your mind to be filled with negative thoughts such as "I'm a terrible worker" or "I'm too fat."

10. LIKE YOUR BODY! Your health and appearance are important parts of

BRIDE CLAIMS BEAUTY SALON RUINED THE HAPPIEST DAY OF HER LIFE

. . . and sues for new wedding!

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — April Asker says she went to a salon before her wedding to get her hair done — and bumbling beauticians left her looking like a freak!

In a lawsuit against Private Quarters beauty salon, she claims the hairdressers gave her a hairdo like a kitchen mop for her trip down the aisle.

"It was horrible — as I walked down the aisle, people were laughing in the background," said Mrs. Asker, who's demanding at least $15,000 to pay for another wedding. "On the most important day of my life, they had to screw it up."

An attorney for salon owner Brenda Moss says his client did nothing wrong, but Mrs. Asker disagrees. She says her ordeal began when she visited the salon a few weeks before her January 1994 wedding to have her brown hair frosted.

The chemical lighteners were left on too long and her hair turned yellow, she claims, and when the hairdresser tried to correct the mistake, her hair turned black. A third trip to the salon resulted in orange hair, she says.

The desperate bride says she went back to Private Quarters yet again and emerged with blue highlights in her hair. Soon afterward oozing sores erupted on her scalp, she claims, and her hair became matted. The beauticians applied an ointment, but it didn't work.

"Her head was looking horrible and this stuff kept running down her face and into her eyes," her attorney, Frank Myers, told Weekly World News. "The evening before the wedding they tried to rectify the damage by weaving extensions into her hair. Afterwards it was elbow length all the way around so it looked sort of like a mop head."

To clear Mrs. Asker's face, hairdressers cut the weave to form bangs — which stuck up at the edges. And matters went from bad to worse, Mrs. Asker says, when the hairdresser locked her in the salon and refused to let her leave until she paid $300 for the hair weave! The next morning the bride walked down the aisle before stunned friends and relatives.

"My husband looked shocked," she recalled. "His mouth opened. I looked like Cousin Itt of The Addams Family TV show.

"I thought, 'I can't believe I'm appearing like this in public.' "

During her honeymoon, Mrs. Asker recalls, "the weave kept looking worse. It was absolutely horrible. My hair was still wet underneath because I was still having the sores."

Later, a friend removed the weave, "and we saw huge bald spots, mainly on the left side." It was about a year before the hair grew back, she said, "but it's still a little thin in places."

Mrs. Asker's lawsuit, which charges the salon with negligence, breach of contract and false imprisonment, was filed in Leon County Circuit Court in January of this year.

TRAMP FROM OUTER SPACE?

SAO PAULO, Brazil — A dirty and undernourished tramp who died alone and penniless in a big-city slum may once have seen the wonders of the universe from the viewports of a starship.

That's the opinion of scientist and astronomer Professor Jose Raul Adobato, who says he spoke with the old tramp many times over a 15-year period: "I am convinced the body we removed from a street in the slum district in February was that of an alien born on a distant planet, perhaps a distant galaxy," said Prof. Adobato.

Homeless man startles top astronomer with amazing knowledge of the universe!

"The old tramp, who appeared to be in his 70s, had a knowledge of the universe that could never have been gleaned from books.

"He told me exactly what we would find on Mars, long before the American space probe landed there, and he had a specialized knowledge of black holes. He developed cancer in 1995 but refused to go to a hospital. He told me he wanted to leave this world because it was a strange place to him, an alien planet.

" 'I was abandoned here in 1982,' he told me, 'and they never came back for me.'

"I often pressed him to tell me who 'they' were, but he would only smile and wave his hand toward the sky."

Prof. Adobato, who lectures in astronomy at universities across South America, went on: "He knew little of propulsion systems, but was a navigator of exceptional merit.

" 'I found our way among the stars,' he told me in late 1986."

Prof. Adobato said the old man's condition grew steadily worse during 1996 and the early part of this year.

"But a few days before the end he told me something which I'll always remember.

A Chinese court convicted businessman William Ping Chen of concealing 238 tons of refuse in 16 containers and trying to slip the smelly stuff into the country from California.

Although not a lot is heard about it, the crime of garbage smuggling is becoming rampant as trash and medical wastes are building up in Europe, Japan and America.

And the Shanghai Environmental Protection Department is getting sick of it.

"It seems the whole world is using our country as a garbage dump," said a spokesman.

Say goodbye to hospitals, doctors

MIRACLE HOME

You can create miracle cures for dozens of common ailments right in your own home, easily and cheaply, says a top medical expert.

The amazing home remedies are safe and extremely effective, according to Dr. Anthony G. Fielding, a leading nutritionist and author of more than a dozen books.

"These cures are safer than many high-priced prescription drugs, because they are all natural," declared the Australian expert.

"Some involve foods and herbs available in supermarkets or health food stores, others require only a simple change in behavior.

"But all are free of the dangerous side effects that you can be exposed to by using prescription medicines."

Dr. Fielding notes that these treatments are not meant to replace your own doctor. "If symptoms persist, consult your family physician at once."

Here, from Dr. Fielding, are 26 exciting home remedies for common illnesses and complaints:

ACNE

Eating foods containing high amounts of iodine contributes to acne. Eliminate the worst culprits from your diet, including: beef liver, turkey, kelp, asparagus and tortilla chips.

ARTHRITIS

Treat flare-ups by taking 1 teaspoon a day of cod liver oil for up to eight days in a row. This alleviates symptoms by providing the body with vitamins D and A. Avoid white potatoes, tomatoes, eggplant and margarine.

ASTHMA

Caffeine is a great asthma buster. Two strong cups of coffee or hot cocoa, or a couple of chocolate bars, can ward off an attack. Avoid milk, eggs, nuts, beer, wine, shrimp and dried fruits, particularly apricots.

ATHLETE'S FOOT

Mix 1 ounce of sage and 2 cups of white wine and allow to simmer in a covered saucepan for 20 minutes. Let cool, then soak your foot for 5 to 10 minutes. Repeat four times a day until the

BACK PAIN

Drink tea from white willow bark, available in health food stores — its natural anti-inflammatory power beats pain. Also, sleep in the fetal position with a pillow between your knees.

BAD BREATH

After every meal chew on cloves, anise seeds or a twig of parsley. These can all freshen your breath naturally.

BLADDER INFECTIONS

Drink an 8-ounce glass of one-half orange juice, one-half cranberry juice. The vitamin C will help acidify the urine and cut bacterial growth.

BODY ODOR

Add two cups of tomato juice to your bath water and soak for 15 minutes.

COLDS

Mix 1 tablespoon honey and ½ teaspoon each of ginger and cinnamon with a cup of scalded milk. Drink this soothing beverage to ease discomfort. Also eat garlic daily.

CONSTIPATION

Combine two parts crushed psyllium seed with one part flax and one part oat bran. Mix ½ cup with water and eat daily.

CALLUSES

Soak your feet in diluted chamomile tea. This will soften your hard skin. Wash off the stain with soap and water.

ECZEMA

Put milk into a glass with ice cubes and let sit for five minutes. Then pour the milk onto a thin piece of cotton and apply to the irritated area for three and high medical bills!

REMEDIES!

DIARRHEA

Add ½ teaspoon of honey or corn syrup and a pinch of table salt to 8 ounces of fruit juice. Stir well and drink often. Avoid eating beans, cabbage, Brussels sprouts and wheat products.

EARACHES

Chew a wad of gum while holding a hair dryer set to a low, warm setting, 18 inches from the affected ear.

FATIGUE

Cut back on caffeine and sugar at breakfast. Instead add a piece of high-protein chicken or fish to your breakfast for extra energy. Low-fat yogurt and cottage cheese are also good morning energy boosters.

FLU

Have a loved one give you a back rub while soaking your feet in hot water. Also gargle twice daily with 1 teaspoon of salt in 1 pint of warm water.

GENITAL HERPES

Soak 1 cup of castor oil into a flannel cloth. Place the cloth on the affected area and cover with plastic. Apply a heating pad and leave on for 1 hour every day.

HEADACHES

Tie a scarf tightly around your head. This will decrease blood flow to the scalp. Avoid strong perfumes, bright lights, salts, aged cheeses and nuts.

HEARTBURN

Add 1 teaspoon of apple cider vinegar to ½ glass of water and sip it along with a meal.

HEMORRHOIDS

Put a bottle of witch hazel in an ice bucket, then soak a cotton ball in the liquid and apply it to your hemorrhoids until the cotton is no longer cold. Also take 375 milligrams of the herb stoneroot twice a day with a glass of water.

INFERTILITY

Use egg whites as a lubricant. Sperm are made up mostly of protein — they do best when traveling in the same type of material. And egg whites are pure protein.

INSOMNIA

Half an hour before bedtime, drink a cup of warm milk or apple cider with a piece of bread and fruit. Also use earplugs to block out unwanted noise.

KIDNEY STONES

Reduce your calcium intake by cutting your consumption of dairy products in half. Eat food rich in vitamin A, including apricots, broccoli, cantaloupes and pumpkins.

OSTEOPOROSIS

Beat this bone-weakening condition by boosting your intake of vitamin D, which increases the absorption of calcium. Six 8-ounce glasses of milk per day should also help — and skim milk works as well as whole. Low-fat cheeses and yogurt are also good sources of calcium.

OBESITY

Eat an 8-ounce portion of beans several times a week. Beans are low in fat, yet give you a feeling of fullness. Eat your largest meal before 9 a.m. every morning — this is the time when you burn off calories most quickly.

PMS

To stop bloating, go on a low-sodium diet for 7 to 10 days before the onset of your period. Eat plenty of vegetables, beans, buckwheat and barley — but keep away from caffeine and alcohol. Relax by soaking in a tub for 20 minutes. Add 1 cup of baking soda and 1 cup of salt to the bath water.

California license plates to identify drunk drivers!

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — Motorists found guilty of drunk driving may soon be required to sport snazzy red license plates — emblazoned with the letters DUI!

Legislators in Sacramento are mulling over a plan to make the plates mandatory — to warn other motorists that the guy or gal behind the wheel has a history of drunk driving.

The plates would have the letters DUI followed by six numbers.

Courtesy is owed, respect is earned, love is given.

HOW TO KEEP WORRIES FROM EATING YOU UP!

By ELAINE ROBERTS / Weekly World News

Are you a worrywart? Don't worry — you can stop fretting by following some simple tips, says an expert.

Here are the best ways to shed your cares and woes, says psychiatrist Robert Armstadter:

● Analyze past worries — Jot down worries you faced before and overcame, such as money problems, school tests, or physical illness. This will not only give you confidence to deal with your fears, it will give you insight on how to do it.

● Prepare a plan of attack — Write down your worries and work on solutions for each problem. If you're worried about paying your bills, look at ways you can cut back on expenses or bring in more money. Developing a game plan will help you worry less because you won't feel so helpless.

● Confide in a loved one — By keeping a worry to yourself you often blow it out of proportion. Sharing your fear with a spouse or family member can diffuse your fear. And they might offer helpful suggestions for solving your problem.

● Convert a negative into a positive — If you're concerned about an upcoming exam, don't waste time worrying. Spend the time studying. If someone at work is getting rave reviews, don't fret about being shown up. Work harder.

● Picture a worse case scenario — Imagine what would happen if you were fired. You would go on interviews and get another job. Facing your fears deflates them.

● Act, don't wait — If you are worried about a noise your car is making, don't put off getting it fixed because you are afraid of what the problem is. If you keep waiting, you'll just keep worrying — and it could ruin the car.

● Distract yourself — When you find yourself worrying, focus your attention elsewhere. Watch TV, do a crossword puzzle or read.

● Find comfort in religion — Turn to your faith for solace. Read from the Bible. Attend religious services. Talk with your minister, priest or rabbi to ease worries.

● Seek counselling — If your worries become crippling, consider seeing a therapist or joining a support group.

STOP being a worrywart by following nine easy tips from an expert.

TIMARU, New Zealand — A chicken farmer was found dead in his poultry barn after he suffered a stroke, fell paralyzed to the floor — and was eaten alive by 750 chickens!

Joe Sayre was missing two days before a neighbor found his partially devoured body, still surrounded by feasting birds.

Q I got a real kick out of those old Godzilla movies when I was growing up.
Is it true that in the last picture the big fella was killed off?
— Jack A., San Francisco, Calif.

GODZILLA DEAD?

A The Tokyo-stomping giant dinosaur, who's roared his way through 21 films since 1954, finally meets his match — and his Maker — in the most recent monster movie from Japan, Godzilla vs. Destroyer.

But don't break out your hankie yet — America's TriStar Pictures is planning to come out with its own version of Godzilla soon.

Q I've seen clips of buxom model Anna Nicole Smith on TV and every time she opens her mouth she sounds like a typical blonde bimbo. Is she as dumb as she looks?
— Denise F., Seattle, Wash.

BIG BRAINS: Anna Nicole Smith.

A Anna Nicole — who became a widow after marrying an 89-year-old multimillionaire — is far brainier than you think.

In fact, she's a closet computer nerd and has even set up her own Web site on the Internet.

"Few people realize that I have been into computers for a while," she said.

"It was time for me to have my own site.

"I also love the direct contact with fans."

Q I loved Angela Bassett's singing in the Tina Turner bio, What's Love Got to Do With It?
How come she doesn't have a song on the soundtrack of Waiting to Exhale like her co-star Whitney Houston?
— Dawn K., Austin, Ohio

STAGE FRIGHT: Angela Bassett.

A Beautiful Angela is a talented actress, but she lip-synched her way through the Tina Turner role.

In fact, she admits that even when called upon to sing Happy Birthday along with songbird Whitney for a scene in Waiting to Exhale, she had a case of stage fright.

"I'm not singing in front of Whitney!" she said. Director Forrest Whitaker coaxed her into belting out the tune.

Q I enjoyed seeing Jeff Bridges as Wild Bill Hickok in the movie Wild Bill.
I'm pretty knowledgeable about cowboys flicks and I don't remember ever seeing this great American portrayed on-screen before. Is Bridges the first actor to play the legendary cowboy?
— Celia D., Richfield, Minn.

A Not hardly, partner! Silent screen star William Hart was the first to fill the famous cowboy's boots, in 1923's Wild Bill Hickok.

Gary Cooper saddled up for the role in Cecil B. DeMille's classic The Plainsmen in 1936.

William Elliot played Hickok in a Columbia serial from 1940 to 1942.

And veteran actor Guy Madison starred in the 1951-1956 TV series The Adventures of Wild Bill Hickok.

Q I'm a big fan of Baywatch, and was delighted when David Hasselhoff came out with a spinoff series, Baywatch Nights.
Any more Baywatch products coming out?

BAYWATCH EATERY: David Hasselhoff.

A Crafty Hasselhoff plans to keep milking the bikini-packed show for all it's worth.

He's been very busy with a string of Baywatch restaurants — and even a live Baywatch revue in Las Vegas!

Creature bites off man's penis as he whizzes in woods!

By JOE BERGER / Weekly World News

LOS ANGELES — Hapless camper Danny de Brio had stopped along a remote mountain road to answer a call of nature when some unseen creature raced by him in the night — and bit off his manhood!

"It was pitch dark and I was standing there taking a whiz when Wham! — some kind of animal came by and bit off my penis clean as a whistle," devastated Danny told a reporter from his hospital bed.

"It happened so damn fast, I didn't even get a glimpse of the thing. All I know is, it was furry — and it had very sharp teeth."

The unsuspecting steelworker's horrifying ordeal began as he drove through the rugged Angeles National Forest northeast of here on the first leg of a long-awaited camping trip.

"I was going to meet some buddies at our favorite spot on a little creek high up in the mountains," recalled rattled Danny, 34. "We were going to have five glorious days of fishing and drinking beer, and I decided to leave right after work and drive all night so I didn't blow a single minute of my vacation.

"It always felt so good to leave the city behind and get out where things were peaceful and quiet."

But the relaxed bachelor's happy-go-lucky world came crashing down around him about 12:30 a.m. when he stopped to relieve himself beside a lonely, two-lane road in the San Gabriel Mountains.

"I had to go real bad, so I pulled off into wouldn't see me," said sad-sack Danny. "It was so dark out there you couldn't see six inches in front of your face and I started to have second thoughts, but I walked on into the brush because, like I say, I had to pee like a racehorse.

"So there I was, doing my business, when I heard a rustling sound in the brush and felt something furry brush by me and felt this incredible searing pain, kind of all at the same time.

"I looked down and saw that something fast and mean had ripped my penis right off my body and run off with it.

"There was nothing left but a little stub."

Mangled Danny wrapped his flannel shirt over the wound in an effort to stop the bleeding and stumbled to the roadway, where a horrified motorist picked him up and rushed him to a hospital nearly 60 miles away.

"When we got to the hospital, the solate construction worker recalled. "Unfortunately, there was just nothing left to reattach.

"Something got it — and man, I have no idea what it was."

And cops seem equally hard-pressed to identify the critter that pilfered Danny's penis.

"There are a lot of animals up there — coyotes, wolves, bears, wild dogs, all kinds of things," said one dumbfounded detective. "But I've Respected doctor is charged with molesting up to 47 women!

Gynecologist blames patients' orgasms on 'trigger thumb,' say Florida cops

By JACK ALEXANDER / Weekly World News

ORLANDO, Fla. — A gynecologist accused of sexually arousing women during examinations blamed the problem on his "trigger thumb," a hand condition that causes his thumb to move uncontrollably.

Pablo E. Melgarejo, 38, was arrested on sexual battery charges after a 43-year-old patient said his examination caused her to have an orgasm.

"The doctor smiled at her like he knew what he was doing . . . (and) she never told him to stop because she was in shock and embarrassed," according to the arrest affidavit.

She said the doctor also caressed her face, kissed her cheek and told her she was pretty, according to police.

Since the respected doc's arrest, 46 other women have made similar accusations that are being investigated by police.

But Dr. Melgarejo didn't try to arouse his patients, according to his lawyer, Robert Genzman.

The doctor's hand problem — for which he was treated by a specialist — "may cause some uncontrollable movement of the thumb, which may have resulted in some unintentional contact during a pelvic exam," Genzman told detectives.

Some patients have defended Dr. Melgarejo, saying his kisses and compliments are part of his bedside manner.

Dr. Melgarejo is charged with two counts each of sexual battery, battery and committing unnatural and lascivious acts on the 43-year-old patient.

Diner finds used condom in sweet potato pie, lawsuit claims!

Restaurant denies lunchtime stomach-turner!

By JOE BERGER
Weekly World News

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. — An indignant diner has filed suit against a local restaurant, charging he was digging into a piece of sweet potato pie at the eatery — and found a used condom in the filling!

a disgusted Dalvin H. Stokes, 31, says in his lawsuit. The peeved plaintiff claims he found the condom while he and his wife Carolyn were eating in Morrison's cafeteria on March 16, 1996. He says he stuck a fork into his sweet potato pie and was stunned to find the condom suddenly staring up at him.

When the horrified diner in-boys in the back cut up like that all the time, joking around," the lawsuit alleges.

Stokes contends he became nauseated and "suffered severe pain, mental anguish and emotional distress" as a result of his confrontation with the condom. He is seeking more than $15,000 in damages.

for months before all the results came back and he learned he did not have the deadly virus.

But Mitchell Block, an attorney for Morrison's, says the company conducted its own investigation and concluded that no one put a condom in Stokes' pie "as a joke or otherwise."

TV SHOPPING SHOWS GIVE ME A PAIN IN THE WALLET!

LET'S go back to the old days — when shopping meant going to the store, says Ed.

I'm madder than Donald Trump with a maxed out American Express card over these home shopping shows on TV!

My wife Thelma Jean and my fat-fannied daughter-in-law Candy are going to send me to the poorhouse if they don't stop ordering stuff from these boob-tube hucksters.

Hell, if they put the Queen Elizabeth II ocean liner up for sale on one of these shows, Thelma Jean and Candy would order it, sure as shootin'.

And guess who gets stuck with the bill? Yep, yours truly.

Now I'm not saying they don't have some good stuff for sale on these programs. I just bought some baseball cards and fishing equipment from 'em.

And the day before that I ordered some power tools and some of that miracle car wax and one of those stereo sets that lets you sing along with the greats like Frank Sinatra, Tom Jones and Tony Bennett.

I even ordered one of those space-age vacuum cleaners for Thelma Jean's birthday and I gave Candy one of their super-duper food processors for Christmas.

But you gotta use a little self-control — something most women don't know a thing about.

That's why I'm putting my foot down and forbidding my wife and daughter-in-law to turn on these home shopping shows from now on out.

If they want something, I'll order it for 'em while I'm checking out the real bargains they offer.

Let's face it. Men can watch these shopping shows without falling for every pitch that comes along.

But women will buy absolutely ANYTHING!

These home shopping shows are like booze to an alcoholic for the gals. They just can't resist.

They oughta have a government warning on the screen saying these shows can be hazardous to women and girls and they should WATCH WITH EXTREME CAUTION. And not only that, these shows make women fat, for Pete's sake!

Instead of working off the flab fighting the crowds at real live department stores, they just flop down in front of the tube and shop till their heart's content.

My dear mother, God rest her soul, used to walk blisters on her feet doing the shopping and once collapsed at Kmart after sprinting 17 aisles to save money on a Blue Light Special. That was REAL shopping, folks — not like using a credit card and a telephone to keep the family in supplies!

Will wildfires wipe out the U.S. this spring?

Serena Sabak

Lot Dallas-based Serena lists you! Write to her c/o Weekly World News, 600 S. East Coast Ave., Lantana, Fla. 33462. We'll forward your letters to her. Don't send money. Serena's advice is free.

Dear Serena: The 1990s sure have been a tough decade for natural disasters. It seems like every time you turn around there's a hurricane or a flood or a blizzard somewhere in the United States.

You might recall there were several serious fires that ravaged California last year. If it hadn't been for the work of brave firemen, those fires could have spread into other states and perhaps even engulfed the entire United States. That's why I'm afraid there's going to be a wildfire this year that destroys the whole country. It happened in Rome many years ago and they didn't even have modern-day electrical appliances that so often start such fires. I'm an 88-year-old woman and I'd hate to see something like this happen. Serena, is a fire going to destroy the United States this year? — Worried in Amarillo

Dear Worried: No. In fact, the brush fires in California won't even be as bad this year as they were the past two years. People, especially campers, have seen the damage the fires create and thankfully they will be more careful this year.

Dear Serena: I need to take care of a terrible situation. I'm 16 and my brother's 18 and he's been kicking my butt for the past 10 years. I'm getting tired of it and I'm ready to do something about it. Should I head to a gym to build big muscles or would a karate class be better for me? How much longer am I going to have to suffer? — Fed up in Crystal City

Dear Fed up: Your brother will stop beating you up as soon as you stop picking on your little sister. He's told you this before and he's serious about it.

Dear Serena: If I could have any job in the world, I'd be an animal trainer. I'm talking about lions and tigers, like in the circus. My father says it will never happen but I say he's just bitter because he's a lawyer and has to spend all his time in a stuffy office building. What do you say — will I ever be a lion trainer? — Hopeful in Jasper

Dear Hopeful: As you grow older you'll not be as interested in working in a circus. Instead, you will become a very successful veterinarian.

CALIFORNIA'S FIRST BRUSHLESS CAR WASH

. . . where everyone works for peanuts!

VALLEJO, Calif. — A powerful pachyderm named Judy delivers the world's best car wash — for peanuts!

Jumbo Judy knows how to use her wrinkled trunk to wash, rinse and vacuum clients' cars. She even dries the vehicles and buffs them to a beautiful shine!

"She holds nearly eight gallons of water in her trunk, so when she sprays, you'd better step back and watch out," said Judy's handler at Marine World Africa USA who helped the elephant show off her talents at a recent fund-raiser.

The brainy 31-year-old elephant showered the car from bumper to bumper with one mighty blast of water and proved to be as skilled as any mechanical car wash with a soapy sponge. And the price was right — a handful of peanuts.

"No one ever complains about her work. Would you?" said Judy's handler.

When the super smart elephant isn't scrubbing cars, she's greeting Marine World visitors or relaxing in the shade with the other pachyderms.

"But her all-time favorite activity is washing cars," said her handler.

"She loves the splashing, she loves the attention — and she loves the nuts she earns on the job!"

JUDY, the brainy 31-year-old elephant, loves her job.

Starving villagers receive 4,500 nail-clippers — instead of food!

KHARTOUM, Sudan — Starving villagers in a famine-plagued desert area were full of anticipation as they tore open crates labeled "food" shipped in by international relief forces.

But their joy turned to horror when they found 4,500 nail-clippers inside!

"The clippers were meant for French troops stationed in Bosnia," explained Robert Hutton, the U.N. official responsible for the relief effort.

"But because of a clerical error, the supplies were mislabeled and sent to North Africa. It was a terrible goof."

Mayor Beshir Mohamed of tiny Derudeb was stunned when he opened the first crate, in front of at least 300 thin, gaunt people.

"I almost had a heart attack when I reached into the crate and pulled out a fist full of nail-clippers. It took all my

YOUNG SEAL RETURNS TO VISIT WOMAN WHO SAVED HIM!

HILLSWICK, Scotland — Like the climax to a Walt Disney heart-tugger, a young seal has journeyed back to Jan Morgan's doorstep — a year after she nursed the injured pup back to health and returned it to the sea!

"It's the most thrilling thing that's ever happened to me," said the 41-year-old woman, who runs a pub in this small fishing village.

"The moment I laid eyes on him I knew it was Tiny Tim, the same seal I cared for last year," she said. "And I could clearly see in his eyes that he recognized me.

"My first thought was that he had been injured again and had come back to the place where he had gotten help before. But when I examined him I couldn't find a thing wrong.

"I can only believe that Tim came back out of love. When he saw me, he started bobbing his head and barking like a hound."

The young North Sea seal was near death when Jan found him tangled in a fish net in February 1996. He was almost starved and so exhausted from struggling that he could barely surface for air.

"I freed him from the net and took him back to my pub," Jan said. "I named him Tiny Tim because of his little-boy expression. It reminded me of the lad in Dickens' A Christmas Carol.

"I kept him for about six weeks and he became like a house pet. But finally he was well enough to go back to the sea. I had tears streaming down my face when I put him into the water.

"But now, a year later, little Tim has come back. I don't know how long he'll stay, but he's free to come and go as he pleases."

SALOON GIRL'S GHOST HAUNTS OLD WEST TOWN!

GRISLY SPIRIT of Alice Hannah has terrorized townspeople since her murder in 1870.

She's looking for the jealous cowboy who shot her in 1870!

BEAUTIFUL Alice, left, has returned as a pesky phantom to haunt the Mexican town of Ciudad Juarez.

By J.P. BARTON / Weekly World News

CIUDAD JUAREZ — The ghost of a beautiful saloon girl haunts the hotel in this Mexican border town where she was shot by a jealous Texas cowboy in 1870!

Now frightened guests want the girl's spirit exorcised because, as one longtime resident says, "We can't get a wink of sleep as long as that spirit is around."

According to local police records, 19-year-old Alice Hannah was very much alive when she drifted into this bustling town — just across three years as a prostitute in various mining towns in the Arizona Territory, where appreciative clients had saddled her with the nickname "Turn-Tail Alice."

Alice quickly settled into her new life in the saloon of the Bon Homme Hotel, a favorite hangout of wild cowboys from across the border.

It was the girl's misfortune terrible temper.

"The ill-fated affair lasted four months," said the hotel's current owner, Juan Garcia.

"But Alice was a working girl and I guess it was inevitable that Bill would catch her with another man."

According to police records, Bill watched through a window as Alice and her young client "considerably mussed up the bed."

The jealous cowboy burst into the bedroom and blasted Alice's client cuspe in the head with his .45.

Bill then turned the gun on Alice and shot her through the chest.

The date was Aug. 3, 1870. And ever since that time, Garcia says, Alice's ghost has roamed the tiny town. She has been described as a grisly spirit wearing a bloodstained sheet.

"She looks you straight in the eye and wails, 'Mercy, kind sir. Please have mercy on poor Alice.' Then she vanishes.

"I really don't mind having her around, but some of my guests are terrified. She's becoming a very disruptive element in the hotel. She only appears to men, never to women."

Nothing has been done to vanquish the spirit from the Bon Homme Hotel, but Garcia said that various arrangements are being considered.

"We have talked at length to a holy father, who is thinking about helping us," he said.

By the way, Alice's killer did not escape justice long. Bill Petrie was blown to bits by Texas Rangers in 1871 after he attempted to rob an old woman at a house of ill repute in El Paso.

Angry toy company tells store:

Stop selling Trailer Trash Barbie!

BIZARRE Barbies line the shelves as store employee Laura Federico displays a pair of Drag Queen Barbies.

By JUNE SAWYER / Weekly World News

SAN FRANCISCO — Makers of the popular Barbie doll have contacted a store owner here and ordered him to stop selling his own version of the doll: A peroxide blonde with a cigarette dangling from her lips named Trailer Trash Barbie!

The Mattel toy company, which owns the trademark for the real Barbie and Ken dolls, also objected to other dolls sold by Bill Tull's store, In-jeanious: A doll with a pierced nose called Drag Queen Barbie — a Ken-type doll wearing Barbie's clothes and a wig, a doll called Hooker Barbie that comes equipped with a condom, and Haight Street Barbie, a hippie version named for the street where members of that sub-culture hang out.

"What do you do? I'm a single store, they're a big corporation," said Tull, who pulled the dolls off his shelves after receiving a cease-and-desist order from Mattel. "It's a pity. They were really popular."

The anti-Barbie dolls' designer, Paul Hansen, sold a few of the dolls to customers in a personal appearance at the store last June.

"Hansen was buying regular Barbie dolls and then changing the way they looked," Tull recalled.

In mid-November, the store owner stocked up with 150 of them and sold 120 in a month. Then an article appeared in a local newspaper, and the remaining dolls were gone in hours. The most popular was Trailer Trash Barbie, a product of in-breeding that features stringy hair, a tattoo and a sign reading: "My Daddy Swears I'm the Best Kisser in the County!"

"So many people called from the rural South who want the Trailer Trash Barbie," said Tull. "They thought it was hilarious.

"The Internet has Barbie doll chat rooms, and 30,000 people inquired about the dolls in one day."

Tull said after a wire service carried the story around the world, his phones were flooded with calls from customers and reporters as far away as Australia, Germany and England. He also heard from folks offering ideas for other Barbie look-alikes.

"One person suggested we add Biker Barbie, Child Abuse Barbie and Ken, Unabomber Ken, and Doctor Kevorkian Ken with his own suicide kit," Tull recalled. "Those are great ideas."

Unfortunately, Tull was out of the Barbie business before he got a chance to add to his line of bizarre Barbies. He got a letter from Mattel asking him to stop selling the dolls.

"It's frustrating," Tull said. "People used to see the dolls in the display window and just start laughing. They were a lot of fun."

MATT in Philadelphia.

Dear Dotti: I thought date rape only happened to women, but after last Friday my opinion has changed drastically. It all started when this girl in my class at school asked me out. I was on cloud nine until I arrived at her house and found that her parents weren't home.

We talked for a while and then she invited me to see her room. That's when my troubles began. She made advances and when I resisted she got forceful. I pleaded with her to stop because I was a virgin and was saving myself for marriage.

She just laughed, threw me on the bed and threatened to tell the whole school that I didn't have any experience. Out of fear I did what she told me to do and now I feel dirty all over and can't live with myself. What should I do? — Matt in Philadelphia

Dear Matt: You made a mistake and now you're paying for it. And that, Buster, is what life is all about.

Why don't you stop your insults, Dotti?

Dear Dotti: You're a jerk. People ask you for advice and you don't give them any. You call them stupid. Why don't you give them straight answers instead of telling them they are stupid! — Angry in Chicago

Dear Angry: I get a lot of dumb letters but yours is one of the dumbest. I tell people they're stupid when they ARE stupid. It's as simple as that.

My weak hubby already broke his resolutions!

DEBBIE in Asheville.

Dear Dotti: My husband resolved to quit smoking and drinking for the new year but he's already back puffing more cigarettes and guzzling more booze than ever. Why, just yesterday he smoked three packs of cigarettes and drank a full fifth of whiskey. I've been nagging him to stick to his resolutions but he just laughs in my face and tells me to get off my butt and clean the ashtray. Is there anything I can do? — Debbie in Asheville

Dear Debbie: Yes. Tell him to go out and buy a new resolution. When he goes to an early grave, you'll be lonely but rich!

My pal's sloppy eating turns my stomach!

Dear Dotti: My best friend smacks when she eats and it drives me up the wall. How can I tell her she's disgusting without hurting her feelings? — Fed up in Toronto

Dear Fed up: Stop walking on eggshells and tell your friend the truth. If she doesn't like it, give her the boot.

Nutty neighbor made me smell her stinky feet!

Dear Dotti: My next-door neighbor caught me rifling through her purse and got mad as hell. I tried to explain that I only needed a dollar or two for gas, but the cops but I begged her not to. She finally agreed to keep quiet on the condition that I get down on my hands and knees and smell her stinking feet. Of course, I did it, but now I'm not so sure I did the right thing. I think I probably should have told her where to go. What do you think? Did she have the right to do this to me? — Adam in Seattle

Dear Adam: Of course, she had the right. And in my book, she taught you a lesson.

Tell me, Dotti, what are women good for?

DARCY in Idaho Falls.

Dear Dotti: My husband's got a lot of nerve. The other day he actually told me women are good only for cooking, sex, and a good time, and that really roasts my butt. I think women and men are equal. What do you think? — Darcy in Idaho Falls

Dear Darcy: I think you had to ask, you're probably one of the latter.

Stupid neighbor won't let me dig up my money!

Dear Dotti: For the last 30 years I've been putting money in jars and burying them in a vacant lot behind my house. Last week my neighbor saw me digging one up and told me to get the hell out of there because the land belongs to him. Dotti, my life's savings — more than $25,000 — is buried out there. What can I do? — Wilma in Trenton

WILMA in Trenton.

Dear Wilma: Wait until dark, sneak over there, and dig up your money. And if you need a hand with a shovel, give me a call.

CONFIDENTIALS

Dear Shocked in Joplin: Next time kick him where it hurts.

Dear Wondering in Abilene: If you're attracted to men, you're definitely gay.

Dear Excited in Huntington: I don't feel sorry for you. I feel sorry for the dog.

Dear Scorched in Lewiston: If you don't do it on the stove, you won't get burned.

Dear Hurt in Milford: What did you expect from a married man?

Dear Kevin in Evanston: Stop sending me candy and flowers! I'm a married woman, twit.

Dear Penny in Boston: If you really love the guy, fake it.

Dear Pooped in Plymouth: If you can't do it, let the girl find somebody who can.

Dear Grossed Out in Manchester: All rednecks pass gas at the dinner table. That's the way they are.

Dear Schizo in Frisco: You sound like a wonderful man. You ought to be shot!

Dear Pepper in Orlando: You're a weenie-head. It's as simple as that.

Convicts' loony lawsuits clogging up the courts

Prison inmates are getting away with murder — clogging up the nation's court systems with outrageous loony lawsuits.

Here are some of the frivolous suits filed by jailbirds in New York State, according to Attorney General Dennis Vacco:

■ Francis Hugh Smith, a 43-year-old burglar, hit the state with a $10 million suit after he "forgot" to return to prison while on work release. The career criminal claims his memory problems were caused by poor prison medical care.

■ Convicted killer Anthony Gill demanded $4.3 million in compensation for medical problems supposedly brought on by secondhand smoke behind bars — even though he smokes himself!

■ Burglar Jose Reyes filed a $1,000 suit for being put on a vegetarian diet as punishment for repeated misconduct. Reyes claims he was "traumatized" by the veggies.

■ Thomas Higgins, a creep who molested and murdered a child, sued over a violation of his "constitutional right" to fresh, clean clothes after a prison laundry machine broke down.

STRIP OFF RIP-OFF

SUFFOLK, England — A group of fun-loving women weren't happy when they paid for a Chippendale-type hunk to strip at their party — and got a 280-pound fatso.

The angry party gals called the blubbery dancer's strip off a rip-off, but the busy rental agency refused to refund their $120.

"We simply ran out of muscle men," said a spokesman for the agency.

Hero hog saves city!

An entire French city was once saved by a lowly pig!

Back in the Middle Ages, the walled city of Carcassonne in the south of France was besieged by the Moors and was slowly being starved into surrender.

In a desperate gamble, the ruler hoarded all the remaining grain and used it to fatten a single pig. The plump porker was then tossed over the wall with a shout of defiance.

Incredibly, the brilliant scheme worked: The Moors were convinced that if the residents still had enough

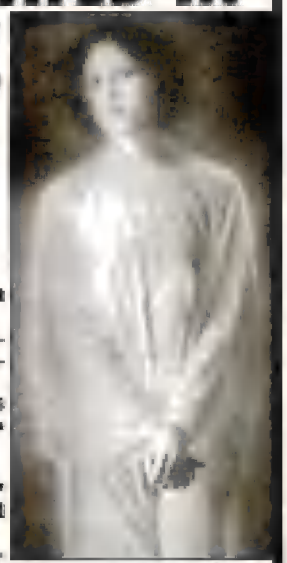
TWO SOULS CAN BE REINCARNATED IN ONE BODY, SAYS TOP DOCTOR



What happens when two souls are reincarnated in a single body?

That is the provocative question that Dr. Sankar Banerjee answers in his eye-opening new book, The Shadow Within.

"Some individuals are not truly one person, but two," says Dr. Banerjee, who's been conducting reincarnation studies in Bombay, India, for the past 26 years.

By MIKE FOSTER
Weekly World News

According to Dr. Banerjee, a reincarnated soul enters its new body when the fetus is at an early stage of development.

"Usually a single soul enters the embryo — but sometimes two spirits, eager to be reborn, each elbow their way into the child.

"When this occurs, the body usually responds and the result is a splitting of the embryo into two, leading to the birth of twins."

This explains why many identical twins, though raised in the same environment, are polar opposites in personality, he adds. In rare cases the two spirits develop a powerful bond and the flesh refuses to part completely, notes Dr. Banerjee. "This results in conjoined or 'Siamese' twins."

And sometimes physical division fails to take place at all. "When the spirits are very different in nature this can lead to the tragic condition known as 'multiple personality disorder,'" says the expert. "In these cases there are two radically different persons trapped in one body, taking turns controlling it — totally unaware of one another. In a few instances, more than a dozen souls end up crowded together in a chaotic jumble."

Normally, however, two souls can co-exist harmoniously.

"Usually one spirit is dominant and the other remains dormant, asserting itself only in times of stress," says Dr. Banerjee. "I estimate that this is the case of perhaps 1 in 10 people.

"A telltale sign of such individuals is their tendency to talk to themselves, as they consult their inner companion."

Occasionally the seams do show, he adds. "Typically, throughout their lives, double-souled individuals tend to be full of inner conflict.

"Again and again, they find themselves torn between two lovers, two career goals, two dreams of the future.

"Each of their souls pulls them in an opposite direction."

How to tell if you're double-souled!

According to reincarnation expert Dr. Sankar Banerjee, you are likely to be double-souled if you:

- Have difficulty making important decisions, swaying first in one direction, then the other.
- Talk to yourself often throughout the day.
- Are ambidextrous.

Philippine president plans to make million$ — BY SELLING HIS OWN CHOLESTEROL!

NUTTY politician Fidel Ramos has come up with an idea that he thinks will have collectors digging into their wallets!

By JOE BERGER | Weekly World News

MANILA — Fruitcake Philippine president Fidel Ramos hopes to make millions of dollars to spruce up this city's reeking, rat-infested slums — by auctioning off a clump of his own cholesterol!

GROSS! President Ramos is keeping his cholesterol in a jar until he auctions it off.

Surgeons scraped the artery-clogging cholesterol from Fidel's body late last year, and the crackpot prez has kept the disgusting stuff in a jar by his bed ever since.

And now he's convinced some souvenir-happy fat cat is going to cough up a fortune to get his hands on the creepy keepsake when government officials auction it off next month.

"Someone will surely want my cholesterol as a collector's item — because I am a man who will go down in history," boasted ditzy Fidel, 69.

"Or possibly a group of investors will go together to buy it, because once I am gone, its value can only go up — and the sky's the limit."

The swashbuckling bigwig says he'll use the proceeds from his cholesterol auction to clean up Manila's squalid slums.

But skeptics doubt that Fidel's fatty deposits will fetch enough to buy more than a squeegee and a bucket of wrappers to spittoons to dirty sweat socks," said amused memorabilia dealer Enrique De Narvaez.

"But cholesterol? I really don't think so.

"If you've ever looked real close at that stuff, you know it's very revolting and I just don't see that there'll be much of a market for it, no matter who it once belonged to.

"I know I'd pay good money to have it removed from my sight — and as quickly as possible."

Other dealers agree, but never-say-die Fidel insists his cholesterol is a collectible worth millions.

"The bidding will be brisk," he insists. "And the lucky winner will pay 30 million pesos (about $3.5 million), maybe more, unless I miss my guess.

"I'll get at least 10 million pesos or there'll be no sale. I'll tell you that."

And Fidel's faithful wife Amelita hopes her hubby's right, that the auction will be a huge success — and that the president and his precious cholesterol will soon be parted.

"The sooner he auctions it off, the sooner I can go to bed without seeing that awful stuff staring at me from the nightstand," sighed rattled Amelita. "I'll tell you

First-ever report of vicious sea cows stuns marine biologists!

SWIMMER ATTACKED BY KILLER MANATEES

By LISA MERAKIS / Weekly World News

TAMPA, Fla. — Authorities have closed down beaches at several Florida springs after a swimmer approached a group of manatees — and the animals turned on him and ripped him to shreds!

Experts say they can't explain why the marine mammals, normally friendly creatures, mysteriously turned vicious.

The attack was so brutal, officials say, that 27-year-old Hampton Crillings was unrecognizable because of his injuries.

VICTIM: Hampton Crillings.

"There was a young calf with the group, and the manatees apparently thought Crillings was going to hurt it," said a witness to the bloody attack. "He paddled up to the five or six animals and stroked a big one on the nose. The next thing we knew, all hell broke loose."

Authorities have refused to comment on the attack — or even reveal where it took place — until an official report on the incident is completed. But unidentified sources close to the investigation have leaked details of the killing, which has stunned scientists familiar with normal manatee behavior.

Crillings was spending the day at a popular spring with his wife and little boy when he decided to take a swim. He was about 100 yards off shore when he discovered the manatees and swam up to them.

Crillings was paddling around among the 12-foot-long creatures when they turned on him.

The animals, which have teeth for chewing aquatic vegetation, savaged the swimmer. Sources say the citrus grove manager was ripped limb from limb and then partially devoured.

"I've known most of these creatures since they were born and they've never been anything but sweet and docile," said a shocked ranger from the state park where the attack occurred. "It's difficult to explain why they would go crazy like that. Either they feared for the safety of the baby or they got really angry about being bothered.

"You know, for years they've had to put up with tourists swimming around them and

BIZARRE SENTENCE

Man who stuffed dead wife in the fridge sentenced to 90 days in a meat locker!

By KEVIN CREED
Weekly World News

STUTTGART, Germany — A man who killed his wife and stored her body in a freezer for three months got a punishment well-suited to his crime.

He's serving the first 90 days of his life sentence in a walk-in meat locker that will be kept at a constant 45 degrees!

That's only 13 degrees above freezing — not cold enough to kill him, but cold enough to keep him in constant shivering misery.

Some newspapers are calling the punishment "cruel and unusual."

But Judge Horst Gruenfeld defends the first sentence of its kind against the liberal voices in the German press by saying: "What this man did is inexcusable. He mercilessly shot and killed her decently, the heartless monster stuffed her in a cold freezer for three long months.

"Now he's spending three months remembering the icy fate he thrust upon his poor trusting wife."

The murderer, Helmut Muller, 42, is being detained in a 10-by-10-foot butcher's meat locker with the thermostat set at a bone-chilling 45 degrees.

He's being provided with plenty of air, food and water during his stay.

But he's not allowed to wear a coat or jacket.

"Other than his standard issue prison uniform — underwear, shirt and pants — the only thing he's allowed is a sweater," Gruenfeld said. "It's the very sweater his wife Marta was wearing when she died — the sweater she wore in that freezer for 90 long days."

Muller began serving the sentence on February 17 and shows signs of severe stress. But Judge Gruenfeld insists that unless he's at risk of suffering a heart attack or extreme hypothermia, Muller will remain in the icy locker for the full 90 days.

After 90 days, he will be transferred to the German National Prison in Frankfurt to serve the rest of his life sentence.

HOW TO FIND THE LOVE OF YOUR LIFE

GLOBAL NEWS SERVICE

Dating do's and don'ts!

Gals, don't wait for love to "just happen." Go out and make it happen — with these simple romance DO's and DON'Ts from Rebecca Snyder, author of the new book Making Love Happen:

♥DO let him pursue you — Make it clear that you are interested, but let him do most of the pursuing. The effort and devotion a man expends to win you will increase his conviction that you're desirable. Donna, a 42-year-old lawyer, says: "I let a man know I'm interested and then wait to see what happens. If he's interested, he'll call and then I'll know the feeling is mutual."

♥DO maintain the mystery — A man's curiosity acts as a strong aphrodisiac. Many women dash into total disclosure about their lives. They fail to realize that a man is drawn to what he has to discover, not what he already knows.

♥DO stress similarities and not differences — Since we tend to feel more comfortable around people like ourselves, try concentrating on your similarities, especially at the beginning. Do things that you both enjoy so that you can establish a bond beyond sexual attraction. Plan get-togethers that involve your common interests.

♥DO maintain perspective — Learn to keep your options open. Don't put everything else on hold when you meet a man you think is right. Date more than one man — it will make you less vulnerable and help you lighten up.

♥DON'T account for all your time — Never provide total accountability of your time to any man who has not given you a commitment.

If you give out this information too freely and too early, you appear too available.

♥DON'T feather his nest — Watch out about getting into the habit of always cooking or cleaning for him.

He'll begin to take you for granted.

♥DON'T be instantly available — A man should not be able to walk in and out of your life at will. If he wants to see you, he must show some consideration that you have a life as well.

♥DON'T "phone date" — Some men use lengthy phone calls as a cheap date. If a man wants to connect with you, he will have to take you out somewhere nice.

♥DON'T play mother or therapist — Don't slip into the habit of working out all his problems for him, fussing when he doesn't finish his vegetables or complaining that he's not living up to his "full potential."

If he needs therapy, he should seek it out himself or it won't be meaningful or beneficial for him.

WINE REDUCES RISK OF CANCER

WASHINGTON — That wine in the gutter may be healthier than you are! At least he's less likely to get cancer. A new study shows that a substance in wine helps prevent cancer and inhibits the spread of malignancies in people who already have the disease.

Trees grow faster when they're hugged

Trees really do need hugs — just like people, Florida scientists have learned. A study of 20 royal palms planted in 1991 shows that when trees are hugged once a day, they grow an average of a foot per year higher than trees that are not hugged.

MIRACLE MAN CHEATS DEATH OVER & OVER AGAIN!

LUCKIER THAN A CAT WITH NINE LIVES: Dick Shields and his loving wife Nelda relax at home.

By DAVID STEELE / Weekly World News

JUNEAU, Pa. — Death stalks Dick Shields like a crazed serial killer — but the miracle man has escaped time and time again!

Throughout his life Shields, 75, has survived land mines, flying bullets, a burst appendix, three broken necks, a broken back, a massive blockage in a blood vessel, a heart attack, triple bypass surgery and other potentially deadly crises. Yet, incredibly, he's in great shape.

Grim Reaper left high & dry when veteran survives:

- Land mines
- Flying bullets
- Burst appendix
- 3 broken necks
- Heart attack
- Broken back
- and MORE!

"Dick suffers a little from arthritis, but he complains more when he's got a cold than anything else," says Nelda, his wife of 48 years.

When he was 18, Shields first defied death by surviving a burst appendix that caused a near-fatal abdominal infection. He was so sick he was actually declared dead by doctors and awoke to find a nurse washing him up for his funeral.

"I asked her what she thought she was doing and she fainted," recalled Shields, a retired coal miner.

Shields' wound healed and he went on to enlist in the Army during World War II. But at basic training the wound reopened, making him deathly ill again. To make matters worse, he caught pneumonia and then a serious infection that caused the skin on his feet to peel away. He got well in time to join the Battle of the Bulge where he cheated death countless times, dodging bullets and narrowly escaping disaster every day in his job of locating and marking hidden land mines.

After the war Shields broke his collarbone, wrist and neck in an auto accident. While he was in the hospital recovering he fell out of bed — and broke his neck a second time!

In 1955 he broke his back when he stumbled into a ditch. A few years later he broke his neck for the third time when he slipped and fell in a railroad car. But he bounced back once more — only to suffer a heart attack and undergo heart bypass surgery.

Finally, in 1996 doctors discovered that a major blood vessel in Shields' neck was blocked by a massive tumor and the super-survivor had to undergo yet another operation to remove the growth.

Since then he's been healthy, his doctor says.

"I'd have to say he's doing real well," said the physician, Dr. Kenneth Fugate. "He's got a good outlook on life and a strong will."

WORLD'S UNLUCKIEST BABY!

14-MONTH-OLD HAS BEEN:

- Kidnapped by thugs
- Trampled by a bull
- Run over by a bus
- Swept away by a river
- Burned in a raging fire

By JOE BERGER / Weekly World News

SAN FRANCISCO — Tiny Tracy Worina is the world's unluckiest baby. The blue-eyed tyke has been kidnapped by kill-crazy thugs, trampled by a bloodthirsty bull, run over by a 10-ton bus, swept away by a raging river, nearly fried alive in a roaring house fire and knocked unconscious in a plane crash — and he's only 14 months old!

"Our poor baby's gone through more in 14 months than most people go through in a lifetime, but he's still the happiest little kid you ever saw," said doting dad Andrew Worina, 38.

"He's been burned, battered, abducted and nearly drowned — but somehow, he keeps on smiling."

Courageous Tracy survived his first date with danger at the tender age of 2 months, when a city bus careened out of control in downtown Hong Kong where Andrew, an international timber consultant, and his family were living.

The bus jumped a curb, killing six helpless pedestrians and sending Tracy and his mother Cyndi to the hospital with bruises, broken bones and internal injuries.

"I was just walking along with Tracy in my arms, and BAM! — the bus ran right over us," recalled still-trembling Cyndi, 36. "We're lucky we weren't killed like the people all around us."

But the Worinas' woes were just beginning. During the next year:

■ The Hong Kong home the San Francisco family was renting erupted in flames, trapping the hapless babe and a babysitter behind a wall of fire. Heroic rescue workers carried both infant and sitter to safety just as flames threatened to burn them to a crisp, but both were hospitalized for treatment of burns, shock and smoke inhalation.

■ An idyllic picnic in the countryside nearly ended in tragedy when a snorting, 2,000-pound bull escaped from a nearby farm and trampled terrified Tracy before his dad could chase the crazed animal away. This time, the battered babe suffered two broken legs and a severe concussion.

VICTIM OF CIRCUMSTANCE: Tracy Worina has gone through more in 14 months than most people go through in a lifetime.

A SIGH OF RELIEF: Cyndi and Andrew Worina with tiny Tracy are happy to be back in the safety of their San Francisco home.

mother's arms at gunpoint in Kuching, Malaysia, and threatened to dismember him alive if his parents failed to pay a $500,000 ransom.

When cops closed in on the kidnappers' hideaway three days later, leaped into the river to save the drowning boy.

"Somehow the cops got to Tracy and got him out of the river before he drowned, but he was pretty beat up from banging against the rocks and had to spend a week in the hospital," his frantic dad recalled. "We decided then and there to take him back home to San Francisco and keep him there.

crying Tracy and his mom from Kuching to Kuala Lumpur crashed into a mountain, killing the pilot and four hapless passengers. Cyndi and her unconscious son were pulled from the wreckage and hospitalized with cuts, bruises, broken bones and head injuries.

"But eventually we got Tracy home — and we're keeping him

Rain Forest Jungle Pill Now Available in the United States Without a Prescription!

THIS LITTLE PILL WILL CHANGE YOUR LIFE!

Millions of true believers can't be wrong — the jungle pill Una de Gato, Cat's Claw, is Mother Nature's Number One herb . . . pure, powerful, proven and unconditionally guaranteed to change your life in a matter of hours, days or, in stubborn situations, weeks!

Hi. I'm Susan Ambrosino, founder and president of Infinity Herbs. It seems like everywhere I go people ask me about Una de Gato — that's Spanish for Cat's Claw — and if you knew what I know about this miraculous South American Rain Forest herb, you'd understand why.

Susan Ambrosino

There is nothing, NOTHING, that true believers don't use the herb for. And while the federal government has made it a criminal offense for me or anyone else in the business to tell you what this mind-boggling array of traditional and common uses are, I am well within my rights to tell you this: Not a day goes by that I don't receive telephone calls and letters from grateful Cat's Claw users of every age and from every walk of life and every possible circumstance thanking me for this astonishing herb. It's not at all unusual for me to pick up the telephone and SHARE TEARS OF JOY with a customer who had given up all hope of ever feeling good again until he or she discovered my company, Infinity Herbs, and ordered this heaven-sent herb.

Nothing I could say, legally, would demonstrate the purity and power of Infinity premium Cat's Claw better than my industry-strongest money-back guarantee. If Infinity Cat's Claw — the same Cat's Claw my family and I take every day, the same Cat's Claw I've shipped to satisfied customers in every state in the Union as well as Canada, England, Ireland, Scotland, Sweden, Colombia, Australia, New Zealand, Japan, Malaysia, Bermuda, the Philippines, the Bahamas and more — doesn't change your life, or the life of a loved one, call my toll free number and I'll write your refund check by hand, while you're still on the phone — and mail it to you that day.

How can I guarantee Infinity Cat's Claw like this? It's easy when you have the finest herb at the best price, an herb that has made true believers of people the world over, people just like you, who, I know from experience, are going to be THRILLED with this amazing herb. OH MY, DI!

Now that she's been booted from the royal family, Lady Di is travelling the globe hunting for a new man in her life — and it looks like she's started her search in Sydney, Australia. The popular Princess attracted a big crowd there recently when she presented medals to these firm, fit and barely dressed lifeguards. Friends say Di isn't shy and when she wants something she's quick to go for it.

6 SIMPLE WAYS TO GET MORE PLEASURE OUT OF YOUR LIFE!

Pssst! Wanna know the secret to getting more enjoyment out of life?

"Don't wait for the big vacation or the brand-new car — increase your daily dose of little pleasures," advised Dr. Geoff Godbey, an expert in leisure studies.

"Small pleasures are important because they put you in a positive frame of mind and keep you there.

"The most satisfying ones involve the five senses — taste, smell, sight, sound and touch. And anyone can achieve them. You don't have to be rich to enjoy the sun on your face or the tasty treat of an ice-cream cone."

Newspaper hires chimp to cover White House!

The publisher of a Norwegian newspaper is trying to get White House press corps credentials for a 5-year-old chimpanzee named Ole.

"I got the idea after seeing reporters on TV taking notes at those White House press conferences," said Trond Lindaith, publisher of the paper in Oslo.

"My chimp can't write, but he knows how to push the 'on and 'off' button of a tape recorder."

GUARDIAN BACK

ILLUSTRATION of miraculous life-after-death experience, as described by Roswell Spancing.

ANGEL BRINGS MAN FROM THE DEAD!

BALTIMORE, Md. — Retiree Roswell Spencing died of a heart attack and went to Heaven, but he was miraculously brought back to life — by a guardian angel who cared for him like a hospital nurse!

"She was one of God's angels and she told me I wasn't supposed to die that day, so she brought me back among the living for a little while longer," Spencing told a reporter for a leading religious newsletter.

"She said she had watched over me all my life and she would be there for me until my time came. She was dazzlingly beautiful with blonde hair and blue eyes and her loving presence made me feel instantly calm and reassured. She held my hand, comforted me and watched over me as we returned from Heaven to Earth — and then she vanished the instant my spirit returned to my body."

Spencing, a 66-year-old retired bank guard, suffered a massive heart attack last November while walking across a shopping mall parking lot on the outskirts of Baltimore.

Paramedics were called and Spencing was rushed to a hospital. He was still clinging to life when he arrived in an ambulance at a hospital emergency room. But his condition deteriorated rapidly and eventually he stopped breathing and had no pulse for the next two hours, doctors said.

"I woke up in Heaven and heard people singing in low voices and saw light and flowers everywhere," Spencing told a reporter. "Next to me stood this beautiful nurse, dressed in a uniform and smiling down at me.

"I asked her if I was in Paradise and she said yes, but I couldn't stay. She told me she was my guardian angel and that it wasn't my time to die yet. She said I had to go back to my body."

Spencing recalls that he saw a blonde nurse hovering around Spencing in intensive care just after the time his vital signs faded and alarms sounded indicating he was dead. The unidentified nurse was seen checking Spencing's pulse, holding his hand and speaking into his ear.

Oddly enough, the woman vanished whenever emergency medical workers were at the man's bedside and reappeared when they turned their backs.

Once Spencing's heartbeat began again and his breathing returned to normal she vanished.

For Spencing, the moments of his life-and-death struggle are indelibly etched in his memory.

He recalls leaving the beauties of Heaven behind and traveling back to Earth with the lovely nurse at his side. And he recalls the guardian spirit bidding him goodbye moments before he awoke in intensive care.

"From the moment she left me, I have felt filled with peace and love," says Spencing, who is now at home recovering his health.

"I have lost my fear of death and I have a strong sense of well being, knowing my guardian angel is watching over me. It feels wonderful to know she'll be there to greet

ARIES
Mar. 21 – Apr. 19

Be on your toes when it comes to considering an unusual offer that may pop up in the coming week. Rely on your intuition and expert advice before making any decisions.

Be careful though: You could get into trouble if you place too much trust in others you don't know well.

A little bits of caution could keep you from being sorry you ever woke up this week.

TAURUS
Apr. 20 – May 20

All signs now indicate that exercise and the proper diet could really pay off this week. Don't dwell on past failures, get to work and shape up.

When a friend comes looking for a shoulder to cry on, offer your typical Taurus loyalty and be a good listener.

Travel plans could change in the coming week, so keep your options open.

GEMINI
May 21 – June 20

This week a desperate situation that has brought anguish to you and those you cherish will soon be resolved on a happy note.

Overcome your moodiness and know that you are truly loved. If you doubt this, take time to notice how many friends you have.

Make an effort to firm up your travel plans and don't let anything interfere with what you want to do.

CANCER
June 21 – July 22

Your perfectionist nature is starting to wear on those who just want to make your life easier.

Be cheerful this week — it could make a world of difference.

Enjoy a restful weekend in preparation for upcoming exciting events and trust your Cancerian sensitivity. It is a gift others envy.

Don't take too much pleasure in a rival's misfortune.

LEO
July 23 – Aug. 22

As always, your confident nature refuses to allow any setbacks. This week your ability to turn negatives into positives will keep you from accepting defeat.

Watch that you don't get caught in the middle of an argument over a petty matter. You will help resolve it if you concentrate on making peace.

You'd better be prepared to host unexpected company.

VIRGO
Aug. 23 – Sept. 22

A bossy friend will try to run your show in the coming days. Don't feel bad about refusing to go along — just trust that inner voice and you will be happy knowing you've done the right thing.

Romance is also in your stars this week. Try an evening of dinner and dancing with that special someone and wear blue. It's a lucky color for you.

LIBRA
Sept. 23 – Oct. 23

Don't despair — a gamble you took some time back should soon begin to pay off — maybe as early as this week.

Until it does, avoid burning bridges or ticking off those you're going to need in the future. Remember — patience is a virtue.

Avoid insults this week as well. You'll pay for it if you don't.

Be ready to travel.

SCORPIO
Oct. 24 – Nov. 21

Be ready to be bold this week. An opportunity will present itself but you have to be ready to jump on it. There is no room for moodiness and self-doubt. If you hesitate, you'll end up left behind in the cold.

Listen to a close friend — he is trying to tell you something important.

Now is the time to make a move in your love life.

SAGITTARIUS
Nov. 22 – Dec. 21

Cut down on socializing this week, Sagittarius. You'll be better off at home with those that are close to you.

If a stranger provides you with some useful news, act on it. It could lead to an upturn in your fortunes.

Avoid negative people and spend time with optimists. Complaining could make your life miserable.

Lucky numbers are 2, 14, and 27.

CAPRICORN
Dec. 22 – Jan. 19

Careful, Capricorn, careful. Keep your eyes and ears open to trickery this week — it should keep you from potential harm.

An upcoming puzzling incident will be clarified in the future and may result in good luck!

Keep yourself fit. Excellent health is in your stars.

A confusing piece of mail will eventually yield good news.

AQUARIUS
Jan. 20 – Feb. 18

Someone you respect may disappoint you this week with an act that is totally out of character. Be patient and find out what is going on before you jump to any conclusions.

If your life seems boring and predictable, it's probably because you've been too concerned with what others think of you. Get a little reckless and don't be afraid to turn a few heads with your behavior.

PISCES
Feb. 19 – Mar. 20

It's time for a change of scenery to get your creative juices flowing again.

Plan for a trip this week, and don't be a cheapskate.

SERIAL KILLER Ted Bundy.

By GEORGE SANFORD / Weekly World News

Researchers studying the brain of executed serial killer Ted Bundy have made a startling discovery: One half of his brain was normal, the other half a primitive, twisted mass of mush!

"This may explain why at times Mr. Bundy appeared to be a model citizen — while on other occasions he behaved like an out-of-control monster," observed neurologist Dr. H.M. Delanni, leader of a team that spent eight years probing the murderer's brain.

Ironically, says Dr. Delanni, had doctors known a congenital defect was to blame for Bundy's actions, they could have rendered him harmless, "by surgically removing one side of his brain."

Theodore Robert Bundy has long been an enigma to criminologists. Far from the "toothless drifter" stereotype of the serial killer, Bundy was a clean-cut Young Republican law student who helped out on a suicide-prevention hotline in his spare time, and once chased a mugger several blocks to make a citizen's arrest.

Nevertheless, he confessed to savagely killing 26 young women before he was finally fried in Florida's electric chair in 1989.

After Bundy's autopsy, brain researchers from around the world vied for the chance to study the serial sex slayer's gray matter, but the prize went to an Italian team with a $750,000 grant.

The scientists meticulously dissected the organ — and the part of the brain, is made up of two hemispheres which, in most people, are virtually mirror images of one another. Normally the two halves work in concert like a well-oiled machine, but Mr. Bundy's brain was different.

"The left hemisphere was entirely normal, but the right side was shrunken and deformed — having much more in common with one of man's primitive ape-like ancestors than a modern human.

"When the left side of Bundy's brain was operating he was rational, articulate — even caring. But when the right brain took over, he degenerated into a brutal killer ape."

On one rampage, Bundy was armed with a wooden club and left bite marks on the bodies of two college coeds he'd raped and killed, the Italian researcher noted.

Dr. Delanni believes Bundy could have been cured simply by destroying the "bad" half of his brain. "This has been done in rare cases of severe epilepsy with surprisingly few side effects. Had it succeeded in Mr. Bundy's case, he might have used his charm to go on to a successful career in law or politics."

$10.3 MILLION LOTTERY WINNER KEEPS HIS JOB — AS A GARBAGEMAN!

INCREDIBLE RAGS TO RICHES story of New York sanitation worker Sergio Martini made headlines across the country.

NEW YORK CITY — Garbageman Sergio Martini won a staggering $10.3 million in the lottery — yet he still goes to work every day at the dirty, tiring job!

"I'm not the kind of guy to stay home and do nothing," the 12-year Sanitation Department veteran told the press.

Co-workers couldn't believe their eyes when the industrious 36-year-old appeared at the mid-Manhattan garage to work his usual midnight-to-8 a.m. shift.

"He said he would show up, but I think there was still some disbelief when he actually did," said Sanitation Department spokesman Lucian Chalfen.

Until recently, the future looked grim for the hardworking father of four and his wife Elena.

Drowning in bills, they were about to declare bankruptcy, and the bank had foreclosed on their home.

His beat-up seven-year-old Suzuki had just turned 201,000 miles and was ready to give up the ghost.

To keep the wolves from the door, desperate Martini worked double shifts and holidays, and on weekends drove his brother's cab.

The couple also spent $60 a week on tickets for Connecticut's Powerball lottery and prayed for a miracle to save them from the poorhouse.

Martini was at work on January 23 when he looked at one of his tickets and realized he had a winner. "I jumped in the air like a wild man," he recalled.

Now he's planning to pay off his bills, build a new house, buy three new Hondas — for himself, his wife and adult daughter — and set up trust funds for his daughter and three young sons. Megabucks Martini, who's quit driving the taxi, also plans to take his wife on their first vacation since their honeymoon in Italy 25 years ago.

The lucky sanitation worker makes a base salary of about $40,000 plus overtime.

He says he'll stay on the job for at least two and a half more years to qualify for his pension, which works out to half his wages tax-free for life.

So he doesn't mind a bit slogging through frigid winter weather to toss garbage bags into the back of a sanitation truck.

"I feel more energetic now since winning," said the happy rags-to-riches trashman.

"And I only have to work one job now!"

BUMPS ON THE SKULL SEXUAL HOT SPOTS

. . . claims top doctor!

BERLIN, Germany — You can find out everything you want to know about someone's sexual potential, a top German expert says — just by examining the bumps on their skull!

By TANYA BRODER
Weekly World News

According to Dr. Wolfgang Frankenheim, the bulges and indentations of the cranium reflect everything from the strength of a person's passions to his sexual interests, his capacity for faithfulness, or his need for deep love. By following a simple chart devised by the phrenologist — an expert in the study of skull structure to determine personality — you can "read" a skull with uncanny accuracy and find out the sizzling secrets of that person's sexuality — including your own.

Here's what to look for — and how to interpret what you find:

EXAMINING THE SKULL

Dr. Frankenheim's method — based on the work of 19th century phrenologist Orson Fowler — divides the human skull into 12 distinct spheres on each side. These areas are outlined in the illustration at right. Each sphere governs a certain aspect of sexuality and once you learn them, you can unlock the secrets to anyones passion potential.

To read a person's skull, place your fingers gently on the head and feel for bumps or depressions in each of the 12 key areas. A depression indicates weakness or absence of passion in an area. A bump indicates strength and vigor in this sphere.

Once you know the characteristics of the cranium, consult the simple guide below to determine what your skull reading indicates.

1 This is the hot spot. A bump here indicates a lusty lover who likes everything about the opposite sex and can't wait to hit the sack. A bump on both sides of your head at this spot means you're doubly sexy.

2 If you have a bump in this sphere, you are faithful, deeply romantic and conservative in sexual matters. You make a wonderful lover when you're emotionally involved, but you're a dud in casual encounters. And you never forgive those who betray you in love.

3 A bump here indicates a person with a matter-of-fact approach to lovemaking. If you have one, you're not particularly adventurous or romantic in the bedroom. Your strong point is that you are gentle and sympathetic with your lover.

4 This spot indicates a person with a sense of beauty and a great love of sensual pleasure. You can be lead astray by your strong need for love and sex, so watch out. Don't lose your head.

5 With a bump here, you'll lover and you're totally honest. Your problem is that sometimes you are overly cautious and afraid to try new sexual techniques. Lighten up a bit in the sack.

6 A bump in this sphere indicates you're a self-absorbed person who is so involved with your own interests that you have little left over for anyone else. In bed, this means you have a tendency to think of your own pleasure first. But never mind — a certain amount of focus on your own sexual satisfaction can make you an exciting bed partner.

7 If you have a bump in this area, you are overly concerned about lovemaking and often feel too anxious to enjoy yourself. You are great at doing what your partner wants — but chances are you don't even know what turns you on. Try being a little more selfish and you'll wind up being much more sexy.

8 This is the all-or-nothing sphere. If you have a bump here, you can be a fabulous lover with some people — and a disaster with others. What's key for you is security. If your partner makes you feel loved and cherished, you will unleash your passionate sexuality totally. If he doesn't, you can't let yourself go.

9 A bump here indicates you're a totally physical person who is almost entirely at the mercy of the opposite sex. You are

Thief fills warehouse with THOUSANDS of stolen panties!

DETROIT, Mich. — Police are trying to trace the man who rented storage space at a warehouse here — and filled it with thousands of pairs of stolen women's underpants!

The lacy loot came in all sizes and styles and had apparently been swiped from clotheslines and homes around the city, police said. The stockpile was discovered when the tenant — who used a false name to rent the storage space — stopped paying his bills.

"The guy must have died or moved away after years of stealing used panties and storing them," a police spokesman said. "He was definitely a weirdo."

Company paints caskets in NFL team colors — for die-hard football fans!

JANESVILLE, Wis. — Dyed-in-the-wool football fans can spend eternity proudly supporting their favorite pro team, thanks to a company that sells caskets painted the teams' uniform colors!

And the entrepreneur who thought up the idea says orders are flooding in.
